INDIVIDUALS

How you can avoid being a victim of cash robberies

Carry as little cash as possible

Consider the convenience of paying your accounts electronically (consult your bank to find out about other available options)

Consider making use of cellphone banking or internet transfers or ATMs to do your banking

BUSINESSES

How you can avoid being a victim of cash robberies

Alternate the days and times on which you deposit cash

Never make your bank visits public, even to people close to you

Do not openly display the money you are depositing while you are standing in the bank queue

Avoid carrying money bags, briefcases or openly displaying your deposit receipt book

It's advisable to identify another branch nearby that you can visit, to ensure that your banking pattern is not easily recognisable or detected

If the amount of cash you are regularly depositing is increasing as your business grows, consider using the services of a cash management company

Refrain from giving wages to your contract or casual labourers in full view of the public, rather make use of wage accounts that can be provided by your bank

Refrain from driving to the bank in your company-branded vehicle on a typical 'payday'

Consider arranging for electronic transfers of wages to your contract or casual labourers' personal bank accounts
